INDIANA PROGRAM REVIEW

FAQ

1. Can the matrices already developed for the UAS be used to indicate in which courses the standards are covered?

    YES

2. May the matrices already developed for the UAS also be used to indicate in which courses the standards are assessed?

    YES. However, note that some standards may be introduced in one course, but not assessed until a later course.

3. Who are the content experts?

    The DPS will solicit recommendations of content experts from state specialty organizations, IACTE (for content/pedagogy) and from higher education.

4. How will content experts be trained to do program reviews?

    The DPS will train program reviewers via an online training module.

5. If a program has no admitted candidates during the three years prior to the institution's program review date, does the institution have to submit this program for review?

    NO. There would be no program data to review.

6. Should we include Transition-to-Teaching candidates in our program completer aggregate data?

    NO. Your content programs did not prepare these candidates; therefore, they should not be included.

7. Will program reviewers receive any credit for this service?

    YES. A program reviewer with a valid teaching license may receive credit toward license renewal. For a person with a Rules 46/47 license, one may receive 1 CRU for 2 hours of work. For a person on a Rules 2002 license, one may receive 1 point for 1 hour of work. This would be verified through the Assistant Director for Teacher Education.
